

EXERCISES FOR TRANSLATION INTO GERMAN.

*The asterisk, thus *, calls attention to an idiomatic word- or phrase-translation.*

EXERCISE 1.

(Compare Sprachbuch, Pages 1-2.)

A finger. One finger. Two fingers. Three fingers. Four fingers. Five fingers. Two fingers and three fingers are five fingers. Three fingers are long, and two fingers are short. —

The finger. This finger. This finger is the middle-finger. This finger is the ring-finger or the gold-finger. This finger is the index-finger. This finger is the thumb, and this finger is the little finger. Is the thumb long or short? Is the little finger thick or thin? —

These* are four fingers. How many fingers are these*? How many fingers are long? How many fingers are short? How many fingers are two fingers and three fingers? —

The first finger. The second finger. The third finger. The fourth finger. The fifth finger. The thumb is the first finger, and the ring-finger is the fourth finger. Is the little finger the fifth finger? Yes, the little finger is the fifth finger.

EXERCISE 2.

(Comp. Pages 2-4.)

A figure. One figure. This figure. Four figures. — A square. A triangle. A rectangle. A circle. — A wand.