

The castle. The castles. — Have you seen an old castle? We have none in this country, but in Germany, in the romantic valleys of the Rhine and of the Danube, are many old castles. Many have* entirely disappeared from the earth. Noble knights have lived there in olden times. They have sung and laughed. They have heard the trumpet. They have clad themselves* in iron from head to foot. They have mounted their horses. They have galloped across the draw-bridge against the enemies. The victorious troop has* returned in* the evening. They have told horrible stories of the fight.

EXERCISE 31.

(Comp. Pages 101-104.)

I protect; I shall protect; I am (being) protected. — He sees; he will see; he is (being) seen. — You admire; you will admire; you are (being) admired. — I admire you; I shall admire you; you are admired by me. — Do you admire Kaulbach's picture? Is Kaulbach's picture (being) admired by you? — She loves him and he loves her. She will love him and he will love her. She has loved him and he has loved her. She had loved him and he had loved her. She is (being) loved by him and he is (being) loved by her. — Every state of the Union sends two senators to Washington. By every state of the Union two senators are* sent to Washington. — Our President nominates the ministers. The ministers are* nominated by our President. — The Supreme Court of the United States settles difficulties between the different states. Difficulties between the different states are* settled by the Supreme Court of the United States. — Corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, hay, potatoes, cotton, tobacco, hemp, sugar, rice, flax, hops, wine and buckwheat are (being) grown in the United States of America. — The sugar-cane is (being) found only in Louisiana.