

AUSTRALIA.

LXX.—AUSTRALIA AND THE PACIFIC.

(PART I., PAGES 180-183.)

WE have noticed in the Pacific Ocean great numbers of small islands. They differ much in character, but if we study them we find there are only two kinds. Some are Load of Wool in Australia.

groups of volcanoes with a strip of coast land around them. These are volcanic islands. The Hawaiian Islands, about midway between Mexico and China, belong to the United